REWARD FOR GALLANTRY.

On the 19th January last the Imperial Merchant Service Guild wrote to the Marine Department of the Board of Trade concerning the rescue of the survivors of the Sunderland steamer Thistlemor by the s.s. Arndale, of Whitby, commanded by. Captain Francis Corner, and urged upon the Board of Trade that the extraordinary exertions undertaken, under circumstances of the most serious difficulty and danger, by Captain Corner were well worthy of the notice of the Board of Trade and of that official recognition which would have been granted by the Board had this rescue been carried out by a foreign merchant ship: In reply to these representations the following | ROCOCO letter was received :--

> Marine Department, Board of Trade.

Sir.—With reference to your letter of the 19th January last respecting the rescue of the survivors of the shipwrecked crew of the s.s. Thistlemor, of Sunderland, by the s.s. Arndale, of Whitby. I am directed by the Board of Trade to state, for the ininformation of the Imperial Merchant Service Guild, that they have awarded a piece of plate to Captain Francis Corner, Master of EVERY WEDNESDAY AND the Arndale, in recognition of his valuable services on the occasion.

I am to add that in accordance with th usual practice in such cases the Board waited for the completion of the fermal investigation into the loss of the Thistlemor. before making this award.

Your obedient servant. (Signed) WALTER J. HUWELL The Secretary, Imperial Merchant Service Guild, Liverpool.

A remarkable story of unappreciated luck comes from Batavia where, on June 13, some children found on the roadside a amall percel simpped in a handkerchief. They played at football with the bundle until the factoring gave way and disclosed a pile of curiously coloured and printed papers. The children platen with the papers, forp some of them into bits, and flung the fragments to the winds. The balance they out up with seissors. On their getting tired of it, the litter was swept up and hipping way is rubblab. Some passers to be fragments of banknotes. It seems imposmble to piece the notes together, but the fragments were identified to show that the total value must have been about 2,000 guilders. The Bank is the only gainer by this treak of fortune,

AMOY NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.) Anov, July 4. LUCKÝ RAINS. Three weeks ago the long winter and spring drought came to an end, and two days of rain gave us a much needed supply of water. But during these three weeks phonomenal for June, hotter than July generally is, with the thermometer above 90° every day, and even at night hardly any lower. So when the flagstaff signalled. a typhoon in the Balintang Channel our hopes were raised that we might get some of its welcome rain. And sure enough the last day of June gave us a few showers, to be followed by mere copious heavy rains on Thursday and Friday. Indeed, since the typhoon seems to have gone inland and travelled overland from Canton, the highland districts inland from Amor have receivedeso much rain in so short a time that very high floods have been caused affecting the rivers" flowing "into Amoy and Swatow. So much silt has been brought down that for three days the whole of the Dragon estuary has been coloured brown to a distance of 15 miles from Chich Be, and at ebb tide this has reached almost as far as the chain of islands lying six miles S.E. of Amoy city. It is one of the curious facts of physiography that the rainfall is so irregular in these countries bordering on the tropics. A famine and a feast! First a nine months drought, and then as much rain falls in three days as would do so much more good if spread over the nine menths.

THE HWEIAN COUNTY. About 100 miles north of Amoy up the coast lies the H cian county, at all times a harren sandy district, in spite of its over 1000 villages. This year it has been badly hit by the drought, and when I was up there a week or so ago it was pathetic to see the acres of rice and other crops utterly burnt up, and all the rivers and streams, all 816 the pends and poels, and many of the wells kong Fractional Coin in amounts of over absolutely dry and void of a drop of water-Most unfortunately this depression travelled too far south to help this county, and while south of Amoy it has caused floods; north of us things are as dry as ever. Unless more min comes and that soon, there is bound to be a terrible amount of destitution in this county. Many villages are without water, and men and women have to go long distances to get water, even for cook- Mounted on Cardeoard and ing purposes. As a county, it is noted for its clan fights, and they are bound to break out anew if rain does not come, as adjacent villages will be in great straits for water. Already some fights have occurred, and men have lost their lives. What a great pity it is that there are no railways in this province, so"that food and water could be easily and quietly monuteyed to needy IDOL PROCESSIONS FOR RAIN. Until the rain came, all over this area the Mandarins and people have been employing their spare time in great idol processions, taking the idols out in their chairs to feel the heat of the sun, and to see the burnt up condition of the fields. At a village near Chin Chow, the villagers took out a large sized idol and after carrying it round the village left it outside the Temple all night. Not far away there are tigers, and that night one came prowling around and ran across this idel. Thinking, suppose, it was a man, he went for it and tore it to pieces, damaging pretty severely, with the result that in the morning the villagers were amazed to find it demolished. One would have thought this would help to teach them the absurdity of believing in the efficacy of trusting to idols to give them rain, but no, they at once collected money to make a new one, hoping, presumably that the spirit inhabiting the old idol would be glad to take up its abode in the new one Truly the workings of the Chinese" mind are tortuous !

Rumour hath it; says the L. a.d C. Express, that several l'olonial local corpsare to be reduced in strength in the interests has long ceased to call for any remark. The Malta Militia has been souced in strength, so has the Hongkong-Angapore Battalion Royal Artillery, and the West African local corps have also suffered. Further reductions of the columnal corps would mean almost extinction. The Homkong - Singapore Battalion Royal Artillely could not be reduced without seriousy impairing its

GUNBOAT FOR MACAO The following description of a shallow draught gunboat built by Mesura Yarrow and Co., of Glasgow, to the order the Purtugueso Government for terist. An exceptionally light draught was required in order that the vessel might be able to steam in the shallowest waters in that district. After much consideration, the method of propulsion adopted was that of twin-screws working in tunnels fitted with Yarrow's patent binged flap, by means of which the maximum efficiency is obtainod under all conditions of load. The dimensions of the hull of the Macau are as kept up in addition to the fire of the large vessels, when going astern are quite un manageable. ... Hongroug June 30, 9110. Becretary, Sanitary Board.

The draught, when carrying a load of 25 tops, was stipulated not to exceed 25 in. and with this load a speed of 124 statute miles per hour had to be obtained. Both these conditions were fulfilled.

The hull is divided into nine compartф шре monts by eight water-tight bulkheads. The forward compartment is used as a chain-加校配 locker; the second and third compartments as provision and store rooms; the fourth compartment contains the magazine-room for the forward gun; the fifth compartment is the boiler-room; the sixth compartment is the engine-room; the seventh contains the magazine for the after gun; and the eighth and nineth compartments are fitted up as store rooms. The officers' cabins are placed on the main deck forward of the boiler room, and consist of a wardroom and a separate cabin for the commander, both fitted up in teak, and lined inside with uralite. Abast the engine room is the petty officers' cabin, with accommodation for eight petty officers. The crew are berthed on the battery deck, which is fitted up with lockers, mess tables, hammocks, &c. The engine and boiler spaces, and officers' and petty officers' cabins are protected by bullet-proof steel plates, the berthing plate round the battery deck and the couning-tower being made of the same material. The test of these bullet-proof steel plates was that of being fired at with a Lee-Metford rifle at 20 yards range and at an angle of 90 deg. without penetration. Rifle clots are arranged in all the cabins, so that an all-round rifle fire can be

In addition to this two Yarrow sprinkless were fitted above the awning over the battery-deck, so as to keep the upper awning wet. These sprinklers have been found to be a great success in tropical climates as the evaporation of the water on the awning tends to keep the space cool below. Another special and mportant feature in this little vessel is the adoption of the Yarrow how rudder for securing, good, manouvring power when going astern. The rudder can be quickly lowered when required, and when going thead the handtiller is unshipped. and the rudder lifted well clear of water and lurned round against the bow of the ship, so as to be completely out of the water. This device is specially needed in all shallow-draught vessels, whether propelled by screws or by a stern-wheel, because without it these

The vessel is lighted throughout by electricity, and carries a search-light on Burroughs and Watts the top of the conning ower. There is s steam capstan forward for working the anchors. Both steam and hand steeringgear are fitted for the two rudders aft. It will be seen that these rudders are placed in exactly the centre of the tunnels, so that they receive the full effect of the stream of water driven aft by the propellers, and are arranged in such a way as not to interfere with the working of the hinged flaps. triple-expansion surface-condensing engines supplied with steam by a Yarrow watertube boiler working under forced draught on the closed stokehold system, and suitable for burning either wood or coal. Air-doors are also fitted at the side of the boiler-room casing, so as to allow of working the boiler under natural draught. The main and auxiliary feed-pumps are independent of the propelling ongines, and the feed-water is passed through a filter, so as to prevent grease from getting into the boiler. HONGKONG, THURSDAY, JULY 7, 1910.

VOLUNTEERING IN HONGKONG

These are parlous days for Volunteering in Hongkong. When SIR FREDERICK $20 Lecture in April last year addressed an carriest appeal to the principal employ 23 ers of labour and others in the Colony to assist in rendering the H.K.V.C., by its numbers and efficiency, worthy to ruck-as an integral part of the Colony's Defence Force, the strength of the corp was 320; on July this year it had fallen to 228. It will readily be perceived that the constant drain arising from men leaving the Colony, on transfer or otherwise, far from being counterbalanced by new recruits joining in equal numbers, is not compensated for at all. How are we to account for this in the United States show that the cost is unusual apathy towards the Volunteer movement in a Colony of the British Crown that is rather given to boasting of its loyalty and its devotion to all the manlier ideals of the race? Do the young, men of the present generation shirk personal service; or is it irksome to them to come for a few hours in the course of the month within the confines of a quasi-military discipline, and to receive orders from officers of their own social standing? We seem to think that the moral standards of the Colony have fallen so low as this. Of course there is no denying the fact that, taken as harder these days than it did in the easier times of the last century. Everyone, from the taipan downwards, has to and with longer office hours and greater. CO. worries and responsibilities there has come about a slackening in the surplus the disposal of such public movements as that represented by the Volunteering idea. Apart from this too, the facilities for outdoor amusements in the Colony have been very greatly increased. Nearly every kind of land and water sport is possible now; tennis, golf, cricket, sailing, swimming, shooting, all having their regularly arranged tournaments and competitions; and each are making

1. Artillery Companies-50 men to Company-to be trained with 5 inch Howitzers or 2-95 inch Mountain

Ammunition Column-number unlimit ed-to be trained as Artillery and to form relief crews for mobile guns o the regular garrison.

Jaxim Gun Companies-1 Guns to Company - Members to be also trained as Infantry. There are 12 Maxim Guns available. 12 men are required for each gun. Infantry—to augment the existing Com-pany under Captain Wood (of Mesers Leigh and Orango). Mounted or Foot Scouts-limited to 50 in all-to be trained in Musketry and to possess a thorough knowledge of the topography of the Colony.

This is certainly a very attractive scheme as well as being practical and suited to the peculiar requirements of as it stands, but to make it all the more acceptable we understand that members nominate their own officers and nonapproval of the Commanding Officer. When it is further known that the number of drills required of the Garrison Artillery Companies is, for 1st and 2nd years' service, 30; and for 3rd and subsequent years' 15; for the Engineer Company, 26 and 12 respectively, and fer the Infantry Company 30 and 15, it will be seen that the Government is not making such a very inordinate demand upon the time of the Volunteer. We sincerely hope that the present appeal will not fall upon deaf ears the gratifying intelligence" that the young manhood of the Colony has once again been stirred by a renewal of the fires of patriotic zeal to throw aside easeful, selfish or sloth-begetting inclina-

By Parsee Community,

The Parsee community in Hongkong gathered at their club-house on Wednesday evening to do honour to Sir Horinusjee Mody by presenting him with an illuminatod address the text of which was published in the China Mail last night-on his clevation to the dignity of a Knight Bachelor by the late King Edward. . Mr M. P. Talati in opening the proceedings said :- Mr Secretary. - I crave your permission to say a few words. Various circumstances have occurred which have unavoidably prevented us from getting an earlier opportunity for this pleasing coremony for which we have met to-day. It is with the utmost pleasure that I have now to express, on behalf of our community, our sincere congratulations for the very high distinction of Knighthood which His late gracious Majesty King Edward the VII. has conferred on our awarthy resident. Sir Hormusjee Mody. During that very long period of more than 23 years that we have enjoyed the benefit of Sir Hormunice's leadership of our community he has justly won the esteem and admira tion of us all, for his ardent zeal for the welfare of his follow countrymen in this Colony, for which we are over indebted to him. The Parsee community have reasons to be proud of having such a highly respected gentlemen as Sir Hornwejen Mody as a president. His many noble works of charity have caused his name to be permanently associated with many worthy institutions of this Colony. There stands in Royal Square a magnificent statue -one of his gifts-which will remain as a permanent emblem of Parsee loyalty. Sir Hormusjee Mody has most worthily shown his generous hearted spirit in giving new life to several benevolent institutions by his substantial donations and has sarned the gratitude of numerous deserving people of all nations. His noblest work-and one which promises to be the most enduringis the recent munificent gift of a splendid building for the University of Hongkong. The laying of the foundation stone of that edifice was spoken of by His Excellency Sir Frederick Lugard as an historical event this Colony and as showing the probability of this Colony becoming the educational progress in South That event, in itself has made our president's name universally known true benefactor not only of the British race, but our Chinese friends as well. Mr Sethna, acquiescing in the request, said :- Ladies and Gentlemen, - We are here this afternoon to do honour to our distinguished fellow-countryman, Hormusjee Mody, upon whom it pleased our late beloved King Emperor to confer the honour of Kinghthood in recognition of his public-spirited munificence in the cause of education in this Colony, and I am sure that I voice the sentiments of all here. present when I say that our congratulations are both hearty and sincere. community of Hongkong and Canton, with I will now proceed to read. (Applause.) The address having been read Sir Hormusico said :- Endies and Gentlemen .- I is difficult for me to find words with which to sufficiently thank you for the honour you do me in presenting me with this address. I can only say that I do most sincerely appreciate your kindness and thank you very cordially for it. I may say that I am, naturally, highly gratified at the honour which it pleased our late much beloved and deeply lamented King Emperor to bestow upon me-an honour which was among the last of the many gracious gifts His Majesty thought fit to confer upon his dutiful subjects. It was, moreover so unexpected. I cannot but feel that the reward is far in excess of the merits of the little I have been able to do for the Colony which has been my home for so many years It is gratifying to me to find that you, my fellow-countrymen, rejoice with me in the distinction of which I have been graciously signalled out as the humble recipient: can assure you that this address with which you have just presented me will be always treasured by me so long as I live. I deeply regret that owing to ill health Mr Battliwalls, the worthy recretary of our community hers, has been unable himself to make the presentation as was your desire. I true; that he will soon be restored to perfect health. I cannot refrain from an expression of genuine pleasure at seeing here the ladies community, who grace this memorable occasion to me by their presence. It has been explained to me that it was the desire of many of our ladies to have added their signatures to the address. I cannot but regret that any disappointment should have been caused them by their not being invited to do son I am conscious that I lack the gallantry of youth to acknowledge the compliment from the Parsi ladies. But. old age can, nevertheless, make, amends perhaps find consolation in the truism that old customs die hard." I am told that was owing to the strict adherence to the established law of precedents that they were not associated with their bette halves in the inclusion of their fair signatures to this congratulatory parch ment. In the conservatism of my advanced years, following in the footsteps of our predecessor, whom we would all like honour. I must own to a weakness io precedents myself, I will, however, confess that the ladies' preseco here is a visible manifestation which but adds to the charm of a coremony I cannot easily forget. Ladies and gentlemen, permit me once more to thank you most heartily for your good will and good wishes. (Loud Applause.) Refroshments were then served.

THE PROPERTY ASSIGNMENT DISPUTE.

Judgment Delivered.

The case was concluded this morning. before Sir Francis Piggott, in which a Chinese woman named Kwok A Tau proceeded against Kwok Sui Chi and Mr. Crowther Smith, claiming a declaration that she was entitled to 40 sixty-fifths of the property known as Nos. 8 and 10 Wing Lok Lane, situate on Section L, of Inland Lot 50 free of all encumbrances.

Mr Eldon, Potter appeared for the second defendant, and Mr P. W. Goldring watched the case in plaintiff's interests, the latter being unrepresented by counsel. The first her heavy gun layer's tests and obtained defendant was not present.

Mr Potter mised a point of law. said ip face of the will it was, he thought difficult to give the plaintiff the relief she asked for, because nothing could be done in this action which was in any way against the will. The will could not be upset in the smallest degree by this action. The will said "I have bought in my own hame in Hongkong two houses, Nos. 8 and 10 Wing Lok Lane," These were the houses which were the subject matter of the action. His Lordship could not say in this action that in fact deceased did not buy these two houses with her own money. There it was in the will.

His Lordship -- I don't think the probate means that every word in the will is accept-

That does not cust the true owner from coming forward. Mr Polter-But surely he would have to set aside the will, because he cannot bequently property which he has not got. Proceeding, counsel said the position was as follows :- In the beginning of 1908 plaintiff gave monies to the deceased and the deceased with those monies bought the property, which was assigned to the deceased in deceased's own name. It was clear now that the plaintiff had never taken any any step at all to get her name on the register as being the owner of the property. I year passed by and the woman who had bought the property died, having made a will bequeathing the property to her brother who was sole executor. That will was then brought to Mr Smith and probate was taken out. The executor then told Mr Smith that he required money for the purposes of the estate, to pay off debts and properly administer it, and he asked for mortgage. A proper search was made and everything was found to be in order, there being nothing at all to lead Mr Smith to beheve other than that the deceased was the sole owner of the property, that the will was a bona fide one, and that the executor was entitled to what he was. In these matters he was dealt with as the executor. Triven years of patient study to and for the purposes of this case he must problems of gunnery, and who are well now he treated as the executor of a perfeetly good and proper will. Y.M.C.A. v. Kowloom. On Saturday afternoon on the Y.M.C.A. courts Kowloon will be the visitors in the League match, and unless something quite unexpected happens later the successful Club in this match will probably be the winners of the championship this season. Both Clubs will make a game struggle for the honour, and as neither has so far been-defeated a fine tusale should witnessed.

The Y.M.C.A. team will be :- Hickling and Edwards, MacPherson and le Breton. Shorey and Joseland.

We have been informed that Bill Lewis (Lyn Truscott) will be bank in the Colony about the end of this month and that patrons of the sport will probably have the bouts if arrangements can be made.

DONKEY FOUR-IN-HAND.

A four-in-hand, comprising four donkeys coster's two-wheeled barrow and three typical costermongers, standing outside the entrance to the Grosvenor Hotel, Victoria, can scarcely he called one of London's commonest sights.

It was seen at nine o'clock on the morning of Derby Day. Three cavalry officers had been dared at long odds to drive a four. lin-hand coster's donkey barrow on Derby Day from the Grosvenor Hotel to the racecourse on Epson Downs, each officer to be clad as a typical costermonger. By 1.15 p.m. two of the "costers" had JOHN & won their bet handsomely. Shortly after eight p'clock morning the stately equipage decorations on their heads and harnessdrew up outside the hotel, where it speedily attracted a large crowd. A smaller coster's barrow, drawn by one Junkey, pulled up a lew yards in the rear of the four in hand. Just as everyone was beginning to think that the costermongers had failed it their part, a big closed motor-car dashed up, and from its luxurious interior issued two costers of the most resplendent type. who errived atoid rousing choice, pushed through the growd and mounted their coach One coster, wearing a goates beard, grasped the rains, and, to shoute of " Good luck!" #### A JUMP IN SALARY

Mr Lloyd George and His Chies Secretary.

In Whitaker's Almanack for 1910 there

s the following sutry :-Chancellor of the Exchequer-Right Hon. David Lloyd George, M.P.,

Private secretary, W. H. Clark, C. M.G.

It is now announced in India that Mr W. H. Clark will be appointed to succeed M W. L. Harvey, who, until his recent death. was on the Governor-General's Executive Council in charge of the Department of Commerce and Industry. The salary is

£5,334 a year. -At once the leading Indian paper, The Pioneer, raised a note of denunciation at the suggestion that the Chancellor is " prescribing a complete change of air for the benefit of the gentleman who has served him so well; " and it talked about the proposal which "outraged the feelings of the 755

The appointment will, however, be a admirable one. Mr Clark's only defect is his youth-he is but thirty-four. As to experience, he stands on a very high plane sion on the Supply of Food in War Time, and he went to Shanghai as Secretary the Mackay Commission, which negotiated a commercial treaty with China. He has had excellent training at the Treasury and the Board of Trade. As to ability, there is no man of his age in the Civil Service who can compare with him. As to his personality, everyone likes him. Of course, he is persona gratissima with Mr Lloyd George, who does not always make good recommendations for appointments. But in this case he is making a brilliant coup. Only what a jump in salary and status for a young man litter

FIGHT WITH SMUGGLERS.

Smugglers who tried to enter France from across the Belgian frontier had an and Northern China Ports. exciting struggle with two Customs officers named Sommier and Spellebut, who were' watching the road near Boescheppe, where they saw a motor-car coming at full speed towards them.

Three men were in the car, including the chauffeur. The Customs officers called upon them to stop, but the chauffour paid no attention to the summons, and Sommier immediately dragged a harrow into the middle of the roadway. The smugglers thereupon tried to turn round. Speliebut who was ahead of his companion ran on to the step, but one of the smugglers seized heavy iron bar, and aimed a terrific blow at the officer, who avoided it by jumping of the car. His assailant also jumped from the into one of the tyres, but finding he could not stop the car, he jumped up behind and clung to the hood. Spellebut now turned to help his comrade, and fired two bullets into the tyres of the car, which was already.

going at full speed. " A fierce struggle took place between Sommier and the smuggler in the car. The car dashed at the harrow in the road and cleared it. Sommier was thrown in the roadway, where he lay with a broken arm. Spellebut fired two more shots at the tyres, but the car was quickly out of sight.
